BES-Asia 2009 is a unique event which combines an all-British exhibition of education resources and services alongside a conference and workshop sessions which cover the latest developments and thinking in the education sector.

Why should you attend?

- to see the best educational equipment, products and services from the UK
- to learn about the use of the latest educational equipment
- to hear about the latest educational trends from Asia and the UK
- to network and exchange ideas with like-minded people interested in the progress of education
- to participate in a wide range of educational topics during the conference & workshops

BES-Asia 2009 is now a formal partnership between the British Educational Suppliers Association (BESA), UK Trade & Investment, Alarming Events and the Malaysian Ministries of Education, Higher Education and Human Resources. This combination provides a powerful and supportive partnership whose purpose is to deliver a quality event meeting the needs of the industry.

Please make a date in your diary (2–3 November 2009) to see the latest British educational technologies at BES-Asia 2009.
